MAYOR AINSLIE

Clears His Desk for Serious Consideration of Light Franchise.

FAVORS TUNNEL EXTENSION

Important East End Improvement Is Now Under

Clearing his desk for a serious consideration of the pending light and power franchise, Mayor George Ainsile signed yesterday and returned to City Clerk Ben T. August a number of ordinances and resolutions of lesser import. The power franchise is one to which the Mayor proposes to give close study. The city is just now bearing the cost of having the Chesapeake and Onio Railway tunnel extended at Thirty-first and Grace Streets, because a hasty and ill-considered franchise granted many years ago made no provision by which the city could require the company to make such an extencompany to make such an extenprinciple laid down in the discussion, the Council holding by charter the power of levying taxes, appropriating money, enacting ordinances, granting franchises and other specific rights which, under the Constitution of Virginia, the Council of a city may not delegate to any one, but must exercise for itself. The Administrative Board, as heretofore pointed out, will have the awarding of all contracts, subject only to the limitation of funds in the appeopriations made by the Council; the election of department officers and employes, the supervision and management of public works and utilities and generally the direction of such enterprises as the Gas Works. Water Works, Electric Plant, markets, Almshouse, parks, playgrounds and other properties and undertakings of the city.

stitutional phase of the case, while thould the Convert H. Talley, assistant United States district attorney, presented the case for the Internal Revenue Department.

Questions were freely asked the attorneys by Circuit Judges Goff and Pritchard and District Judges Rose, who were sitting in the case. It is probable that the argument will be considered this morning by the court, as Saturday is conference day, and while the judges may arrive at an opinion immediately, one member of the court will be designated to write the opinion and hand it down in its turn.

The conviction of the three Broad Rock officials was brought about through the testimony of Eibert Eimore, at one time bookkeeper at the Broad Rock Distillery. It was shown by the prosecution that Wood had authorized payment to the Federal store, keeper-gauger of $12 per harrel for every barrel of spirits allowed to go out of the distillery with the tax unpaid.

On June 12 Wood and Rhea were found guilty and sentenced to cighteen months in the Pederal penitentiary and $500 fines, while Williams was given twelve months in jail and a like fine.
